Entertainment at Academy To-Morrow Promises to Be No-table Affair.

MME. DONALDA WILL SING

Lady Colebrooke to Appear as Britannia—Has Worked in Munition Factories and at Front as Red Cross Nurse.

For the purpose of raising much-needed funds for the relief of suffering from the European war, a brilliant concert and series of tableaux and dances will be given at the Academy of Music to-morrow night under the auspices of the War Relief Association of Virginia. Extraordinary efforts have been made by those in charge to make this one of the most notable entertainments of many seasons and from the talents of many ladies which has become interested, it is anticipated that their hopes will be more than realized.

In addition to a number of the most prominent girls and young matrons and men of Richmond, who will appear in the tableaux, posed by artists of standing, the assistance of several notable artists from other cities has been obtained, and the result is confidently expected to be a most remarkable performance from every viewpoint of excellence and charm.

Most conspicuous among the visiting artists is Miss Pauline Donald, an opera soprano who, a Canadian by birth and a protege of Lord Stratford's family, made her debut in Covent Garden, London, just before the outbreak of the war. Since that time she has served in munition factories and done a great deal of work in connection with the Canadian Red Cross, of which she has recently been made a life member. She has two brothers at the front. Miss Donald will sing a number of songs, including several of those written to encourage recruiting. And before each tableau, representing one of the allied countries to whom she will sing a verse of the national air of the country.

Russian needlework and embroidery, imported to America last summer, and now exhibited at the Russian bazaar in New York City, will be the feature of the display of miscellaneous articles offered at the booth of Mrs. W. W. Sale to-morrow night in the lobby of the Academy of Music, in connection with the benefit concert and tableaux given by the War Relief Association of Virginia. The value of the Russian articles alone is estimated at fully $100.

Peasants made all the articles by hand. Some of the pieces are very old, and all have a striking semi-oriental flavor of Russian art. Not only is embroidery a fine home art, but much of the work is of superb quality. Brilliant colorings, flawless handiwork, beautiful design and permanent interest are a part of almost every article in the collection.

Wooden dolls, carved by the peasant children of Finland, form perhaps the most popular single class of articles in the assortment. There is a whole family consisting of mother, father, brothers and sisters. With natural expressive faces, accurate national costume and perfection of artistry, they often Richmond children a new ideal toy. They might well be pronounced the best wooden play things in the world.

NEWSPAPER MAN FINED AND GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

R. L. Stultz Said to Have Received Two Quarts of Whisky in Month.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) HARRISONBURG, Va., February 3.—R. L. Stultz, until recently news editor of the Daily Independent of Harrisonburg, was fined $50 and given thirty days in jail yesterday on conviction of receiving more than the legal allowance of one quart of whisky a month. The affidavits at the express office, it is stated, showed that Mr. Stultz received two quarts of whisky shortly after his discharge at intervals of twenty-six days apart.

Mr. Stultz is a member of a well-known Rockingham family. The case has caused unusual interest. Seven other men also were given similar punishment for violations of the new prohibition law.

Stultz's case will be appealed to the Supreme Court, if necessary, and it is not improbable that a petition for a writ of habeas corpus will be sent to Governor Stuart.

Four of the other men were fined for transporting whisky into the State by automobile. They have begun their jail sentences.
